

A Parent – Teacher Meeting

- A) Read the following text and add speech marks.
- B) Try and write a script for your own parent-teacher meeting!
Use 1. speech marks, and 2. your imagination!

Hello, Mrs Jones, said the teacher. It's lovely to meet you.

It's great to meet you too, Mr McClean, replied Mrs Jones. Jemima has told me a lot about you, she said with a funny smirk.

Oh! I hope nothing too bad, laughed Mr McClean. I know I can be a bit of a shouter. Sometimes I think the kids are shaking in their boots! he cackled.

No; no, she is very fond of you, answered Mrs Jones. Anyway, let's get down to business. How is her school work? she inquired.

Of course! Well, Jemima is a very hard worker, he remarked. Her vocabulary is excellent; I think she may even be in with a chance of winning the short story competition this year! he exclaimed.

Oh, brilliant! smiled Mrs Jones.

However, I am concerned with her progress in numeracy this year, Mr McClean said with concern.

Mrs Jones looked worried. Oh dear! What can I do to help? she asked.

Oh, nothing to worry about! answered Mr McClean. We are practising a lot and she will be absolutely fine, he told Mrs Jones. Anyway, it was great meeting you, Mrs Jones. Thank you for coming in, he finished.

You too! replied Mrs Jones. Thanks again, she said as she shut the door.

b) Now try and write your own interview! What do you think your teacher might say? Is there anything you might like to improve on?

Teacher: _____

Parent: _____

Teacher: _____

Parent: _____

Teacher: _____

Parent: _____

Teacher: _____

Parent: _____
